

Neal-Schuman Guide to Recommended Childrens Books, Second Edition

This invaluable new guide is an exhaustive, one-stop resource for any librarian or teacher seeking to meet current national education standards and integrate high-quality childrens literature into everyday learning. Authors Kathryn Matthew and Joy Lower detail over 1,200 books, videos, software, CDs, DVDs, and Web sites. Dually effective as a collection-development tool for school libraries and a guide to fostering key librarian-teacher collaboration, this comprehensive, cost-effective and easy-to-use resource presents myriad ways to marry top literature with the latest educational standards, teaching methods, and instructional tools. From classic titles and award-winners to a host of brand new 2009 publications, you'll find all of the top materials to incorporate across every school subjects curriculum and spanning Pre-K through Grade 8, including: Math, Science, Language Arts, Social Studies, Health, Physical Education, Art, and Music. Each book and media annotation contains ISBN numbers so you can easily locate materials, including relevant technologies, software, and other media. There are also strategies for integrating these resources with curricula and teaching English Language Learners and special needs children. Matthew and Lowes extensively updated second edition makes it easy for librarians and teachers to enrich their curricula and instill a lifelong love of reading.
