

The Bowser Family History (Classic Reprint)

RiEFA CE 1217090 The following pages present what we believe to be the first attempt to write a history of the Bausser, now, Bowser family. When our ancestors came to this country they spelled their name Bausser, and Bousser. In many instances there was but ones used. The change from the former spelling to Bowser was gradual and, we believe, now complete. The last on our record to use Bouser was A dam Bouser in his will recorded in Armstrong County, Pa. The reader will get clearly in his mind that we are of Teutonic blood. The chief source of our German ancestry was in the Alemanni tribe occupying upper Switzerland and adjacent provinces. The French still speak of the German as A lemagne. This territory was subsequently called the Palatine. An overflow reached the Rhine and was called the Lower Palatine. From this land then, came the scores of Pennsylvania Dutch, to the virgin forests of Pennsylvania. A mong them was Mathias Bausser, Sr., who landed at Philadelphia, September 28, 1733. He and his family made the long voyage from Rotterdam, Holland, on the brigantine Richard and Elizabeth. The same year Daniel Bousser and two brothers came via Baltimore, Md. The story of the settlement of this small family, chiefly in Pennsylvania, and their development down to the present, the reader will find in the following pages. We wish to express our grateful acknowledgment of the aid given us in finding the descendants of Daniel Bousser, by Jacob C. Bowser, of Erie, Pa., the Kittanning Daily Leader-Times for use of several cuts. Also the invaluable help rendered by Chas. A. Bowser, of California, who is himself preparing a genealogy and history of the Bowser people. Also to the Executive Committee for their sympathetic interest and manifold kindnesses during the protracted years this history has been in process of preparation, and also for the promptness with which
